CORDON BROWN PASSES AWAY.

A Former Editor of the Globe Dies this Morning.

Brief Sketch of His Career as a Newspaper Man.

At the Time of Death He Was Registrar of the Surrogate Court.

Mr. J. Gordon Brown, Registrar of the Surrogate Court, and formerly edi-tor and managing director of the Globe, died this morning. Mr. Brown has been ill for several weeks past, and his death was not unexpected. Nevertheless it will come as a shock to the wide circle of friends he had made during his long career as a journalist in Toronto.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his son, 16 Admiral road, on Monday at 3 o'clock, to the Necropolis.

By birth, Mr. Brown was a Scotchman. He began his education in Scotland, but at the early age of eleven he came to America with his family and settled in New York. His father was a newspaper man also, and connected himself with a paper in the American metropolis. The Hon. George Brown, his brother, was connected with the same paper, and on one occasion was sent into Canada to increase its circulation. The young man was guick to see that there was an opening for a paper in Toronto, and soon afterwards the Brown family came to Toronto and started the Globe. He joined the fortunes of his father and brother, and with them struggled to establish their paper. That their efforts were not futile is borne out by the fact that the little weekly paper grew to be a large daily, that to-day occupies no mean position in Canadian journalism.

Within the next week probably half the men now employed on the work will be laid off, which means that over 100 men are now beginning to look anxiously for the next job, though few anticipate finding very readily so good employment as they have had for years past, on the great pile of stone on Queen street.

A FAILURE IN COAL.

Walter McFarlane Makes an Assignment To-day.

Toronto Wholesalers Lose by the Failure of a Large Dealer At Victoria, B. C., Who Owes $50,000.

Walter McFarlane, dealer in coal and wood at 233 Spadina, 647 Queen west, and 1506 Queen west, has assigned to Henry Barber. The liabilities are said to be heavy with out of town creditors. The Farmers Dairy at 29 McCaul street, which was also conducted by Mr. McFarlane, is also in the assignee's hands. B. P. Pearson, of Victoria, B.C., general storekeeper, has made an assignment, with liabilities of about $50,000 and assets $35,000. Toronto houses will lose heavily.

Johannesburg, June 12.—Lionel Phillips and George Farrar, the recently released leaders of the Johannesburg Reform Committee, met with an enthusiastic reception upon their arrival here. They were carried on the shoulders of their admirers to the Stock Exchange, where they received an ovation. The building was invaded by excited outsiders and business had to be suspended.

Rifle Match To-day. Rifle Match To-day.

The third match of the Canadian Mill-tary Rifle League series will be fired this afternoon at the Long Branch Kanges. Owing to the parade of the city corps on the 27th of June at the unveil-ing of the monument to the memory of those who lest their lives in the North-west Rebellion of 1885, permission has been granted to the city corps to fire the last match of the series on the 29th of June, instead of the 27th, the date ori-ginally fixed.

Mr. George Brown, it was always thought, was the spirit of the paper, but when he was laid low by an assassin's bullet, and when J. Gordon Brown took charge, it was soon discovered that the paper had lost none of its nower.

The elder Brown was a staunch Prespetralnism. The full heat of the disruption was felt, and the two factions of the church were embittered against one another. Mr. Brown took the part of the seceders, and in their interest started a paper called "The Banner." The paper was not a financial success, nor was it particularly useful, for nearly all Canadians belonged to the Free Church. The paper cased publication.

Every in-coming train bears delegations to-day.

The whele city is assuming a convention aspect. Everywhere can be seen red, white and blue bunting, and jetures of presidential candidates. The leading hotels are especially gay and gaudy. Many secret conferences took place last night and to-day. The details of the convention are being carefully worked out.

It can be safely predicted that the convention will open. Tuesday, and that a series of interesting sessions will follow until adjournment Saturday or possibly later. Chairman Carter will call the convention to order. Then will follow the reading of the roll, and the appointment of committees on credentials. Resolutions and permanent organization. The temporary chairman, will be C. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana. The second day, Wednesday, will be a taken up much with oratorical effort: and the regular business of the committee on credentials. The consideration of publications occupied some time. The extent of this brist ch of work has vastly increased. The number of leaflets printed last year was 29,000, against 17,000 for the year before. Last year 16,000 quarterlies were published, as against 4,000 for the year before. Dr. Potts said that the addition of these names would help to thresh out the matter better and would likely obviate any acrimonic ous and inflammatory discussion in the conference.

The Rev. Dr. Stone brought up two important questions in church government. The first was: "Has a professional counsel a right to appear for plaintiff or defendant in any court of the Methodist Church?"

The committee maintained that there was no reflection in the paragraph.

It was argued that Col. Fraser's motion should be one with Mr. Fotheringham's, as both meant practically the same thing. The motion was carried unanimously.

R. D. Fletcher and Mr. Burns, the committee appointed to confer with Mr. Ballantyne, reported that he was present and had his answer ready. Mr. Ballantyne came forward and was informed officially by the Moderator of the decision of the Assembly. Mr. Ballantyne in a few well chosen words, expressed his appreciation of the honor done him, and at the same time lamented the fact that it would mean his removal from Knox Church, Ottawa, and which might be seriously affected. He accepted the offer.

Rev. Principal Caven, Prof. McLaran and Dr. Fletcher supported a motion that the sympathy of the Assembly be conveyed to Knox church, Ottawa, and that the Preshytery of Ottawa and Mr. Burnshie view of Chanda in the propension of the Assembly be inconveyed to Knox church, Ottawa, and that the Preshytery of Ottawa, and that the Preshytery of Ottawa, and the Preshytery of Ottawa, and that the Preshytery of Ottawa, and the Preshytery of Ottawa, and the Preshytery of Ottawa, and the Preshytery of Ottawa and Present the populace were especially pleased with an anecdote recounting The Master's read particle.
