Toronto Conservatory of Music officials have announced several new appointments on its faculty. Additions to the staff of the dramatic arts course include Brownlow Card, stagecraft and make-up; Patricia Card, costumes, and Hal Purdy, broadcasting.

John Weingart, Mus.Bac.Tor. and M.M. Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., will teach theory. A composition of his was recently played by the Promenade Symphony Orchestra.

Elinor Doan, Toronto, will teach piano, and Alice Keffer, A.T.C.M., formerly of Kitchener, will teach singing and theory. William B. Mottel, M.A., from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Cyril Moss, F.C.C.O., A.T.C.M., of Toronto, will also teach singing.

The Conservatory has opened a new branch at St. Parkview Ave., Willowdale, under the principalship of Adeleno Melero, for several years a faculty member. On his staff to teach brass and band instruments will be the noted bandmaster Luigi D'Urbano, who will be remembered by many Toronto music-lovers for his work as bandmaster at Scarborough Beach Park several years ago.

It was announced that Miss Marion Copp has resigned her post as singing teacher on the T.C.M. faculty to take a new position this month at Furman University, North Carolina.

Since the sale of the Academy of Music Building on Spadina Road, the Conservatory's Academy Branch has been removed to new quarters at 417 Bloor St. W. The Deer Park Branch also has moved, from St. Clair and Yonge to enlarged quarters at 125 St. Clair Ave. W.
